

To the FCC:

PLEASE leave Wisconsin's No Call List legislation as it is. If my bank, or other financial and commercial businesses have provided quality service during previous encounters, it is likely that they will have earned our return for future needs. Incessant phone calls that interrupt our lives and especially our dinner hours are not needed and not welcomed.

The current Wisconsin law, which allows only one call to former customers, was based on the strong voice of Wisconsin citizens saying they do not want to be telemarketed by any business with as few exceptions as possible. This is a sound, adequate, humane and popular guideline. To ensure its continuation and to maintain consumers, not big telemarketers as a priority, your action keeping this critical and intelligent legislation intact is crucial, welcomed and appreciated.
